Mr. David Nichols

(AEP, U.S.A.)

Abstract

AEP Seeks to strategically integrate Distributed Resources into AEP Business models by positioning AEP to Participate in emerging DR markets. AEP has undertaken the evaluation of DR technology with the intent to understand its application and how that technology is integrated into business modes. That evaluation includes the development of adequate test stations and extensive monitoring of field installations to assess performance. This presentation will review AEP strategy around DR and will discuss AEP findings and experiences to date.
